Assistant Professor of Mass Communications
Piedmont College, Demorest, GA.

Founded in 1897, Piedmont College is a private, comprehensive liberal arts college with an enrollment of approximately 2,500 students at campuses in Demorest and Athens, Georgia.

Piedmont College currently invites applications for two positions – both at the Assistant Professor rank in the Department of Mass Communications on the Demorest campus.

One position is for someone able to incorporate multi-platform and social media elements into the instruction with the ability to work and teach across current and emerging media platforms, including gaming, mobile media, digital culture, social media, and multimedia storytelling. Working knowledge of XHTML, CSS, Adobe Creative Suite (including InDesign, Dreamweaver, and Photoshop), and Wordpres is essential.

The other position requires expertise in digital journalism focused on a selection of introductory to advanced media writing courses, including journalism, copy editing and feature writing. The position also requires teaching other undergraduate courses, such as mass media survey and public speaking.

Qualifications, Experience and Skills: A PhD in Mass Communications or a related field as well as a strong commitment to excellent teaching, advising for a student media organization, and service is required.

To apply, applicants should submit a letter of interest, a current vita, unofficial copies of transcripts, and names, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses of three references to: Office of Human Resources, Piedmont College, P.O. Box 10, Demorest, Georgia 30535, or via e-mail to hrapplicant@piedmont.edu with “Mass Communications Position” in the subject line. No phone calls will be accepted. Piedmont College is an EOE/Affirmative Action Employer. Veterans, minorities, women, and persons with disabilities are encouraged to apply.
