

Professional Judgment

Have a special circumstance?

Eligibility for financial aid is determined by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid \(FAFSA\), which currently uses financial information from two years prior. Piedmont University Financial Aid Office recognizes that households can experience changes in income or other finances that are not reflected in their information from two years prior. This can affect the ability to pay for education.

When these situations occur, it is possible to re-evaluate a student's aid eligibility based on their current circumstances through the Professional Judgment (PJ) process on a case-by-case basis. All Professional Judgment applications are required to have a detailed letter of explanation and supporting documentation. A Professional Judgment cannot be processed for changes until verification is complete. Please check your aid status on your Piedmont Student Self Service Portal.

There must be a significant change to the household finances to be considered for a Professional Judgment.

Types of Professional Judgment

1. Change to Expected Family Contribution (EFC)
2. Change to Cost of Attendance (COA)

Change to Expected Family Contribution (EFC)

- Loss or change of employment

Note: A change in student's aid eligibility will likely not occur if:

- The person who lost employment has currently been rehired and is earning a similar or higher salary than two years prior
- The loss or change to income was not significant
- Child Support reduction or change
- Divorce/Separation of parents/spouse
- Change of marital status for dependent students
- Death of parent(s) or spouse

- Excessive out of pocket medical and/or dental expenses that exceed 11% of household's Adjusted Gross Income
- One-time taxable income (IRA disbursement, pension distribution, etc.)

A change to the EFC could, but is not guaranteed to, result in a change of eligibility for need based awards.

Non-applicable Circumstances

- Standard living expenses (utilities, car payments, etc.)
- Mortgage payments
- Credit card/other personal debts
- Filing for bankruptcy
- Vacation expenses
- All other discretionary expenses

Change to Cost of Attendance (COA)

Out of pocket costs for the following:

- Costs associated with a student's disability
- Childcare expenses for a dependent child of the student
- One-time purchase of a computer for education expenses
- One-time costs of professional licensure required for student's major

A change to the COA does not necessarily result in a change in financial aid eligibility. An increased COA can provide additional eligibility in a student's educational budget for private aid. In some instances, a student may have increased eligibility for need-based and/or non-need based awards.

The chart below lists the type of supporting documentation required for various categories of Professional Judgment. This list is not all inclusive. Additional situations may warrant an appeal or additional documents may be needed. Failure to submit all applicable required documentation will result in a delay and possible denial of your Professional Judgment application.

To Apply for Professional Judgment

The Professional Judgment applications are available by request only. Students may request an application by contacting the Financial Aid Office at finaid@piedmont.edu or 706-776-0114. Be sure to include "Professional Judgment" in the subject line and provide a detailed explanation of your special circumstance. By getting a better understanding of your circumstances, we can assist you with the available options. If a Professional Judgment is warranted, we will provide you with the appropriate form and request documentation.

Once the Professional Judgment appeal form is received along with all required documents, a decision will be made. The student will be notified of the determination along with any changes that are reflected on their financial aid for the year. In some cases, an adjustment to the FAFSA does not increase the student's eligibility for grants or the total amount of the aid offered.
